

TOMAHAWK MAPLE CREAM

A TASTY CHANGE OF PACE FROM CANADA

Tomahawk Maple Cream hails from Quebec, Canada. As a rum cream, Tomahawk Maple Cream is a blend of cream, sugar, spices, the very best maple syrup and rum.

Legend has it that ancient Native American warriors would participate in games of skill before battle and one of these games consisted of throwing Tomahawks with precision and might against surrounding trees.

The winner would relinquish his Tomahawk within the tree as a sign of respect. maple sap was later discovered dripping from the Tomahawk blade and that moment began the great tradition of maple syrup.

Unlike other cream liqueurs, which are made from grain spirits, Tomahawk Maple Cream liqueur is made with a three year-old white rum and sweetened with Grade A maple syrup from Quebec.

Wine Enthusiast:

"From Montreal hails this rum-based cream liqueur, made with Canadian Grade-A maple syrup. Resembling a maple-toned version of Bailey's Irish Cream, this creamy, addictive liqueur looks like chocolate milk but has a rich maple aroma and flavor. Sip as an autumnal digestif, or add to coffee or warm apple cider. — 92 points, Kara Newman
